A POPULAR FALLOUT.

In times of peace prepare for war.

Don't you do it; maybe the war won't come and you don't need to get ready any way. The day you start on your journey step in here and get a suit. Worsts are good for particular men, but tweeds and cheviots are cooler and better for the average traveller.

There's nothing that travellers wear—trainwise or oceanwise—that we haven't got; not to mention macintoshes, trunks and bags of all good sorts, canes, umbrellas, steamer rugs and the rest.
